

City of North Royalton, Ohio

The York Alpha Industrial Park is located just three miles east of the I-71 and State Route 82 interchange. Please contact North Royalton's Community Development Director, Thomas Jordan, for additional information (such as development opportunities and incentives).

In 2009, Laszeray Technology, Inc. opened a new, state of the art 30,000 square foot (sq ft) headquarters within the industrial park. The 25-employee firm is a jack-of-all-trades design and manufacturing shop, with capabilities to take your product from concept to completion at the new facility and familiarity with consumer, commercial, military, aerospace, recreational and automotive products, among others. Please see more at <http://www.laszeray.com/> or call 440.582.8430 for more information.

Another recent occupant, Induction Tooling, Inc., is the world's leading supplier of selective hardening inductors and supplies metal working customers in aerospace, automotive, heavy equipment and medical industries. Their 25,000 sq ft facility houses services such as designing, building, and repairing inductors plus laboratory prototype testing.
